Be Aware!

Owe a friend or family member some money? Peer-to-peer payment apps make the process easy and almost instant. This has opened up the door for scammers to take advantage of people. When using these apps always be aware and use these steps so that you don't become a scammer's next target.

Increase security measures. Set your app to require a passcode for every transaction and turn on notifications that alert you to all payments. Also if available add a two-factor authentication to your email associated with your peer to peer app.

Only send money to people you know and trust. If you are asked for a payment in order to receive money, this is a scam. It's best to only send money to people you know personally.

Don't share sensitive information. If you are ever contacted by a peer to peer apps services representative, they should never ask for your personal information such as PIN or social security number.

Seeking Your Thoughts

In an effort to always offer you the best service and most up to date products, Wildfire is launching a program that seeks your thoughts on the service you receive from us, and the products we offer.

We started surveying our members in June, and you may receive one asking for your input. These surveys will be delivered to you via the current email address we have on file. If you receive an email from WildfireCreditUnion@express.medallia.com, please take a moment and give us your feedback. We will never ask for any personal or financial information in these surveys. They are designed to help us serve you better.

We value your opinion and will keep you apprised of changes that result from your survey comments. If you receive a survey, we encourage you to please take a few minutes to share your thoughts.
